Based in California, Fotopod Booth is a design and manufacturing company specialising in photo booth products for clients in the photography, events and corporate industries.

Consistently pushing the boundaries of the photo capturing experience, Fotopod sells a wide range of models including, LUX Mirror Booths, the Original Kiosk Machine, Nano Pod and the newly developed, patent-pending 360 Orb system. Those looking to start up their own photo booth business or upgrade their current equipment to the latest technology can benefit from custom turnkey solutions and affordable financing options, with no franchise fees or yearly service add-ons.

Photo booths are growing in popularity as a convenient and affordable way to make any event, wedding, or birthday party an instant hit. The judging panel praised Fotopod's innovative team, who have extensive experience in high-end photography, computer graphics, digital animation, and prop design. Many of the staff have worked at major Hollywood studios, including Sony, Disney, and Lucasfilm Ltd., taking their 'movie-magic' know-how and directly applying it to their own concepts and technologies.

The company's signature photo booth (Original Kiosk Machine) has a unique electric-lifting column design, the perfect solution to traditional stationary photo booths that can barely accommodate guests of various heights. It is purposely constructed to mimic a large smartphone – taking the phrase 'taking a selfie' to a whole new level!

Fotopod offers turnkey packages such as the "patented" inflatable soft-box Dynamic LED enclosure system. This premier package makes high-end lighting, set up and transportation completely stress-free. Studio quality photos can be instantly printed or emailed, and with the photo booth's capacitive touchscreen, event guests can upload their photos to social media sites such as Facebook and Instagram with just a few taps.

If a client is unsure which model might be right for them, experienced agents are more than happy to help with the decision-making process and offer a real-time demo. Meanwhile, the company's website contains detailed specifications on each product in a handy comparison table. Fotopod also ships worldwide and has a hassle-free returns system. For their rental service, the company can provide a knowledgeable attendant who will remain on-site throughout the whole event, ready to answer questions, supply props and ensure everything runs smoothly.
